

Fayette State Park - Fayette Historic State Park encompasses 711 acres featuring a restored iron smelting company town (1867-1891). The townsite is jointly administered with the Michigan Historical Center, Department of State. The variety of day use and overnight facilities attract thousands each year to this bayside park.

Located within the Historic Townsite is the Snail Shell Harbor. Approximately 300 feet of lineal dockage provides overnight or day use boating opportunities. The protected waters of Snail Shell Harbor are deep enough for larger pleasure crafts.
